

Applying CCMR Tools in Research and Practice

Open-Source District Tracking & Accountability Tool

Use these questions to guide your discussions about the relevance and possible uses of this product.

First Impressions

- What stood out to you about the tool?
- What questions did you have after seeing the demonstration?

Use & Applicability

- What parts of your current CCMR tracking or reporting workflow would this tool replace, simplify, or leave unchanged?
- Who in your organization would be most involved in using this tool, and who would need to be part of the process for it to be used consistently over time?

Future Enhancements

- What practical barriers might you run into when trying to use this tool with your existing data systems?
- What additions, changes, or features would make this tool more useful for ongoing CCMR tracking in your organization?

Potential Use Cases

- Where could a CCMR tracking tool like this connect to work in your organization?
- What kinds of questions or decisions could this tool help inform in your organization?

Texas Credential to Career Crosswalk

Use these questions to guide your discussions about the relevance and possible uses of this product.

First Impressions

- What stood out to you about the tool?
- What questions did you have after seeing the walkthrough example or use case?

Use & Applicability

- Who might realistically use a resource like this in your setting or partnerships?
- How does this connect to questions you or your partners already try to answer about coursework, credentials, and careers?

Future Enhancements

- What changes to the structure, format, or features would make the crosswalk easier to use?
- What information or connections would you want to add to make the crosswalk more complete or easier to use?

Potential Use Cases

- What questions about coursework, credentials, or career preparation could this help you explore?
- What decisions or conversations could this kind of information help inform?